

At your service

Leave your fire safety to the experts

You need peace of mind. You need to know that your fire alarm system will work at all times and that you have the best people to make sure you are safe.

With a BluEdge™ service agreement, you choose which level of safety best suits your needs. We'll sit down with you and find out what you require. And we can give it to you.

SAFE

Even a simple fire safety system needs to be treated correctly. We know our systems best.

RELIABLE

Proper maintenance is the key to a reliable system. We know what it takes.

APPROVED

Our people have all the approvals in place, both regulatory ones and our own.

COST EFFECTIVE

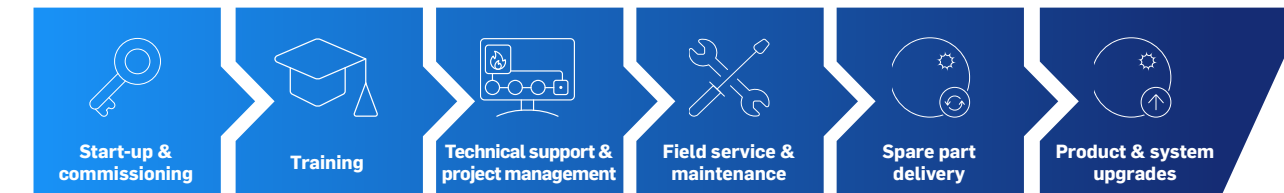

With regular system maintenance you will save money during the lifetime of your system. It pays off.

Stay safe - always

Autronica Fire and Security is a leading innovator, manufacturer and supplier of fire and gas safety equipment. We are an international company with over 60 years of experience and offices throughout the world. We have service people ready to help you, in all corners of the world.

As the owner of a building, you are most likely required by your authorities to ensure that your safety systems are checked and maintained so that they work properly. It is also the owner's responsibility to provide documentary proof of this. With a BluEdge agreement, you can feel safe in the knowledge that your system will be looked after in accordance with the regulations.

You're in safe hands.

BluEdge service - we have the level that is right for you

CORE	ENHANCE	ELITE
For you who only require assistance with our minimum requirements for ensuring that their systems work as intended.	If you are looking for a full maintenance package, the Enhance is the right choice. This agreement ensures predictable and cost-effective operation.	Our Elite agreement is the ultimate, carefree, all-inclusive service for you who require full predictability in the operation of your service. This agreement ensures you top priority and includes everything your system might require.
An annual system inspection and software upgrade, if needed, is essential for maintaining safety throughout the life of your system.	In addition to the Core agreement's system inspection and software upgrade, we will check your system annually in accordance with regulations, and we will carry out any necessary preventive maintenance.	With our Elite agreement, we tailor a solution to accommodate your requirements.
We use diagnostic tools for system and unit analysis, and provide a status report with recommendations about any necessary maintenance.	We will thus ensure stable and reliable operation of your fire safety system, and we provide documentary proof of our inspections.	For complex and high-risk systems in particular, it is important that all aspects of fire safety are addressed and that maintenance is carried out by competent professionals. With an Elite agreement, service engineers with a knowledge of your system will ensure that safety is maintained throughout its lifecycle.
This package is best suited for electricians serving Autronica systems, and who might benefit from our help once in a while.	This package is our most widely used solution and it covers most buildings.

New technologies

Lead to new opportunities

Technology is advancing fast, and we are constantly taking advantage of new technology in order to ensure the safety of our systems. With remote connection, we can monitor detector status and replace units before they fail at the end of their service life. By analysing the system information prior to arrival, our service engineers can provide faster and more accurate service on site.

Same level of security – fewer expenses.

Get the Edge. BluEdge.

The BluEdge service platform is our new, best-in-class service and aftermarket offering exclusively for customers and partners across the Carrier enterprise (HVAC, Refrigeration, Fire & Security). Leveraging our history of innovation and deep product expertise, we deliver unmatched service experiences that are tiered to meet the precise needs of your business.
